Noted Military Romance, "The Commanding Officer," in Motion Pictures at The Paramount Today.

Today Daniel Frohman will present a four part film adaptation of the celebrated military drama, "The Commanding Officer," by Theodore Burt Sayre, produced by the Famous Players Film Company and appearing on the Paramount Program.

The photo adaptation of this noted play combines in a thrilling and absorbing manner a novel and varied environment, and an original plot that often attains an intensity of dramatic power and appeal seldom contained in a screen play. With the interest of the theme centering about the beautiful young wife of the commanding officer, unjustly accused of an immoral deed of which she is thoroughly guiltless, the development of the plot is marked by a uniformity of merit and a continuity of suspense that will result in a complete

INTERESTING ACCOUNT OF LANDER EXERCISES

GIVEN BY ANDERSONIAN WHO ATTENDED THE CLOSING

UNUSUAL PROGRAM

Because Program Was Little Out of the Ordinary in Some Things.

Among those who attended the commencement exercises at Lander college, Greenwood, this week were Judge and Mrs. George E. Prince, Mrs. T. A. Wiggington and Miss Maggie Garlington. Miss Ann Broyles of Townville was among those receiving diplomas there this year.

One of the visitors at commencement gives a very interesting account of it and says that there were several items of unusual interest connected with it. One of these was the fact that it gave the people a chance to see the new pipe organ which had just been installed at a cost of several thousand dollars. This opportunity was given them on Sunday morning when Dr. Harms of Newberry College preached the commencement sermon.

The address before the Y. W. C. A. given by a woman was also a little out of the ordinary. This lecture was made by Mrs. W. L. Walt of Darlington, president of the Woman's Missionary Society of the South Carolina conference and the address was pronounced a literary gem.

Also the selection of a local Greenwood man for the literary address was out of the beaten path. Colonel Bailey, of Bailey Military Institute, was the man and the fine paper he presented, as also the splendid audience of Greenwood people who went out to hear him, gave positive proof that the choice was a wise one.

The admirable paper read before the alumnae association was written by Mrs. Ida Chickales Hardin, who has many relatives in the county, and the essayist for next year is a suburban resident of Anderson, Mrs. James E. Anderson.

Owing to the financial unrest of the country, the association during the past year made very little effort to swell the endowment fund. It was especially gratifying, therefore, to find at the close of the meeting that the treasurer had collected sufficient funds to buy another $100 college bond, this being the third added since last commencement and the fifteenth now owned by the association.

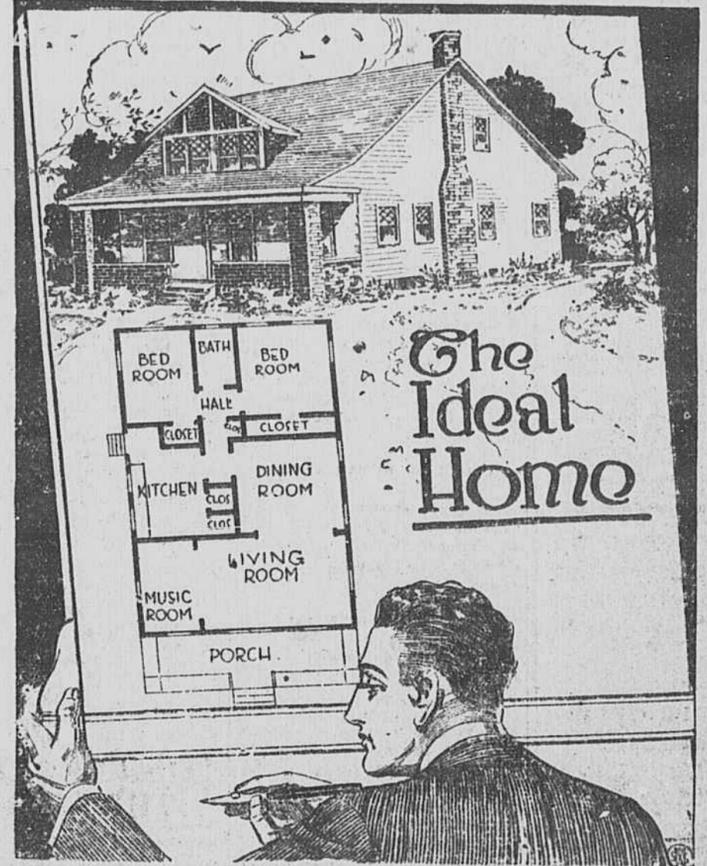

It's One Thing to Grunt—But Another Thing to Holler.

In the May American magazine Ellis Parker Butler begins a new series of entertaining and amusing boys' stories. In his story this month, which is entitled, "Swatty," he describes as follows a boy's attitude toward a licking in school:

"I guess if teachers always knew how lickings were going to turn out they wouldn't lick us fellows so much. I knew a fellow in Miss Fenton's class, and she used to lick him with a strap with a buckle on the end, because that was the only thing that would make him holler, and one day the tongue of the buckle went right into him and his leg swelled up and, you bet, the school board fired Miss Fenton. I bet she was sorry she ever started licking anybody. But, you bet, no school teacher ever made me holler yet. They can make me grunt, but they can't make me holler, and a fellow don't care how often he's licked if he can keep from hollering."

THE LAW OF SUPPLY AND DEMAND RULES SUPREME

We Have Everything Needed in the Building Line Except Demand

When you wish to borrow money from your bankers, you get your money at a lower rate when his supply of money is plentiful, and the demands on him are less than usual; and so with the builders' supply people. You can build that house, store room or barn MUCH CHEAPER NOW than you could have built it last summer. Why? Because the demand now does not equal the supply—hence the price is much lower than usual.

Your vacant lot is not increasing in value very fast as it is, why not build that house NOW? You KNOW that you are going to build at SOME TIME—You can't expect any lower prices for either materials or labor than prevail NOW, so WHY PROCRASTINATE any longer?

Build that house and rent it out, thereby earning a good dividend on your money, instead of having it lie idle.
